Indoor Air Quality (IAQ) | US EPA

Sick building syndrome (SBS) is a medical condition where people in a building suffer from symptoms of illness or feel unwell for no apparent reason. The symptoms tend to increase in severity with the time people spend in the building, and improve over time or even disappear when people are away from the building.

In a separate article, Owen explains why the residents of Manhattan are so much greener than Vermonters.. Green building myth #2. Walls have to breathe. Bored readers may move on to the next item; I know that this is a tired old argument. But the "walls have to breathe" statement still keeps popping up, so I'll take this opportunity to whack it back into its hole.
